Senate allots funds

by Andrew Waterhouse

Financial matters occupied most of the time during last week's student senate meeting.

THE LARGEST amount was $1000 given to the central committee. Sen. Tim Norgart, a central committee member, asked for $1000 as an operating fund for the rest of this year. He said former central committee members had spent nearly all of this year's $5000 allocation in the first two quarters.

Fred Robinson, ASSU treasurer, argued that the money would take too big a chunk out of the contingency fund, threatening the ASSU with a deficit this year.

Other senators countered that the central committee is too large a part of the ASSU to be left empty-handed and, in fact, should not be considered separate from the ASSU.

TO PREVENT the central committee from being careless with the money, it was moved to make the transaction a loan. The motion failed to get a second, however, and the bill passed almost unanimously when senators moved out of the standing rules to vote on it.

Larry Brouse, ASSU president, said the senate would have to move quickly on new guidelines for cheerleader selection before Lee Marks, second vice president, has to make a final decision. He made it explicit that this year's cheerleaders are not necessarily next year's and certainly not the selection committee.

He also mentioned that students in the Fench in France program were asking for an activities fee refund since they do not benefit from ASSU-sponsored activities and facilities and instead must pay for them again in France. After some debate, Robinson said he would come up with the exact figures for the next meeting.

Brouse also had two new executive appointees approved. Both positions were vacated because of schedule conflicts. Mike Nevins is the new executive secretary and Melanie Ross the new comptroller.

SEN. BOB Casey moved to increase the executive coordinator's scholarship from the present flat $200 a quarter to the same as other executive appointment positions — two thirds tuition. Considering the work done by Ed Hayduk and Jan Flom, past and present executive coordinators consecutively, the senate decided the position entailed enough work to warrant the extra money.

Towards the end of the meeting, Mary Ann Cummins, a former senator, got up to leave, noting she found the senate as unamusing as ever. Parliamentary procedure prevented senators from countering her statement before she left.

Explaining later, Ms. Cummins said she objected to the use of profanity in the meetings, pointing out this showed how lightly part of the senate took its job.

AT THE meeting, Sen. Mike Kelly, stating he had been on the senate for one and a half years, said he was pleased with the senate, referring to Ms. Cummins in a derogatory manner.

First vice president Jim Walker admitted some senators took their work lightly but added that the situation is improving.

Sens. Jeff Jones and Mark Frost were absent and Sens. Jim Lorang, Ed Crafton and Bill Brophy were absent but excused.

The next meeting will be tomorrow at 6 p.m. in the Chieftain conference room.

After the meeting, at about 7:30 p.m., Fr. William Leroux, S.J., assistant dean for academic planning, and Fr. James Powers, S.J., Acting Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, will be available for an informal discussion of the new six-year undergraduate degree program with Seattle Prep.

May Day mini-tournament today; spectators welcome

S.U.'s first annual May Day Forensic Tournament will be today from noon-4:30 p.m.

Impromptu speaking and interpretative reading will be featured events in the mini-tournament.

Round one of impromptu competition will be held in LA 204 and LA 207 from 12:30-1:15 p.m. Round two will be held in LA 204 and LA 207 from 2:30-3:15 p.m. Subjects will be of local and national interest.

Career Week coming

Students will be provided with the "opportunity to look at a lot of different things" during the Career Week set for next week.

Sponsored by the Office of Minority Affairs, the week will feature various events each day and is designed to give students a look at various career opportunities and graduate school possibilities.

TUESDAY will be devoted to looking for a job. Henrietta Tolson, community services professor, will discuss interviewing techniques at noon in the A. A. Lemieux Library Auditorium.

Liz Thomas, head of minority employment at the U.W., will discuss various aspects of job seeking at 1 p.m. and Bernice Guinn, minority affairs counselor, will talk about resumes at 1:30 p.m., both in the Library Auditorium.

Wednesday, representatives from 18 companies will be interviewing and talking about their companies from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. in the Library, room 114.

A WIDE variety of companies will be represented, both national and local. Some of them include the Environmental Protection Agency, The Seattle Times, IBM, Jack in the Box and Nordstrom Best.

Thursday will be devoted to graduate school. Dave Thomas, minority affairs director, will discuss the politics and pitfalls of testing at noon and Luther Strong, director of minority affairs for health sciences for the U.W., will discuss preparation for graduate school immediately afterward. Both talks will be in the Library Auditorium.

Friday, Career Week will conclude with a discussion of fellowships and how to apply for them by Dr. Robert Saltvig, chairman of the history department.

ALL STUDENTS are invited to attend all sessions but women and minorities are especially encouraged. Bob Flor, assistant director of minority affairs, explained.

The programs should also be especially beneficial to students who are not seniors because it will give them the opportunity "to talk to a lot of different people in a lot of different areas," he added.

Flor has been working on the week of activities for almost a month with the help of several students — Sheila Edwards, Diana Croon, Damien Cordova, Marjorie Carew, Vickie Takemoto and Jerry Bynum.

Funding for women's athletics improving; dance may help

Funding and participation in women's athletics is improving but could still be better, according to three of S.U.'s top women athletes.

MEDRICE Coluccio, number one women's tennis player; Monica Brown, captain of the gymnastics team; and Liane Swegle, S.U.'s only woman track star, agree that, this year at least, a start has been made.

But, Ms. Coluccio pointed out, the improvements have been made because "we made a big deal out of it."

"It was up to the women to make the first move," she added.

The three women discussed the state of women's athletics earlier this week in preparation for the upcoming Women's Athletics Recognition Night Friday.

Sponsored by AWS, it will feature "Feeling" and "Horizon" in a benefit dance with proceeds to go to women's athletics. Cost of the benefit, at 8:30 p.m. in the Chieftain and Tabard, is $1.75. Beer will be served.

THE WOMEN are certain they can put the money to good use.

Women's tennis was allotted $200 this year with the promise of $145 more this quarter. So far, $70 of the original $200 is left but the women have been paying for many of their own expenses, Ms. Coluccio said.

This year, there are six women on the team but a new rule will require that there be at least nine next year to be able to compete on an intercollegiate level.

Women's gymnastics members have not had to pay for any of their travel expenses but did have to buy their own uniforms Ms. Brown said. The team could also use new equipment but can't afford any and was unable to compete as a team in the regional meet in Montana because of the expense.

MS. BROWN competed in the meet herself, along with teams from some 25 other schools in several Northwest states and Canada. She captured 13th place on the bars.

Ms. Swegle has been paying for much of her own travel but most of her meets have been in the city. She plans to go to the national meet in mid-May and the athletic department will pay her airfare there, she said.

Ms. Swegle has never been beaten this year in the 880 and last year took second in national competition.

The prospects for women's athletics could be greatly improved, all three agree, with a little more money, and a few scholarships for women. That would entice more women to participate and improve the programs, they add.

The picture for next year does look a little better.

An ad hoc women's intercollegiate athletics committee has been working for the last two years on better funding and supplementary services. Recently, the athletic department gave preliminary approval for a $4331 operating budget, consisting of $2500 from the athletic department, a $200 anonymous donation and $1631 that will have to be raised.

In addition, five scholarships will be provided to be divided up among five programs — tennis, gymnastics, track, basketball and volleyball.

Cooperation, publicity make successful week

Good publicity, coordination and cooperation by clubs and groups on campus combined to make CARE Week a success in raising funds for Dr. Pat Smith's hospital in Kontum, Vietnam.

A PRELIMINARY total of $1,113.85 was quoted by the ASSU, not including the BSU dinner, OAS party and Aegis contributions.

The Chinese Student Association donated the most with a total of $450 and received a plaque in honor of this at the ASSU dance Friday.

The most successful events were the ASSU dance on Friday, $100; the Dorm Council pie-throwing contest, $110; Tabard Inn Night featuring the group, Border Song, $82; and the AWS Talent Show, $51.

DR. SMITH'S organization has now sent letters to 26 other schools through the CARE program and will use S.U. activities as an example.

Letter to the editor

alarm

To the editor:

At the beginning of the present quarter the faculty was informed that final grades would be due in the Registrar's Office at noon on Tuesday, June 4.

Since final examinations end on Friday, May 31, and members of the faculty are expected to attend graduation activities on both days of the weekend (June 1-2), I discussed with a number of faculty colleagues the advisability of moving the deadline for grades to June 5 or June 6. Everyone with whom I spoke agreed with the idea, and all for the same reason: to give us the opportunity to test our students with the examination methodology appropriate for each course, and the time to evaluate our students' work properly and fairly without undue pressure.

Encouraged by this unanimity, I went through the regular channels (registrar, dean academic vice president) to request the change in date, and was informed that such a change would not be made. Reasons for the refusal ranged from the sublime (the computer time for grade processing is already arranged and cannot be rescheduled, even though the University owns the computer) to the ridiculous (mails to students' homes are slower these days, so grades must be in early to compensate for the delay).

I view the above experience with alarm, not because it is monumental in itself, but because it is one more example in a long series of decisions over the past few years which have affected adversely the academic integrity of this University.

The constant shortening of quarters (leading to a seven-week summer session); the pass-no pass phenomenon (in which the grades of "A" and "D" become equivalent); the permanent grade of Incomplete (?); the determination of the entire spring quarter calendar by the availability of the Seattle Center Arena for the Commencement Exercises; the assertion that a specified number of class contact hours validates a course, and the distribution of those contact hours is pedagogically insignificant—all of these items illustrate the increasing determination of academic matters by non-academic priorities.

Seattle University is undergoing an exciting stage of innovation at the present time. New programs are being formulated, and new academic structures are being considered. A highly competent admissions staff and some truly magnificent work by the student-to-student committee are reversing the trend of decreasing enrollment. But what will all of this mean if we allow our academic standards to keep falling, and if we constantly frustrate conscientious instructors in their attempt to serve our students as well as possible?

I believe that most of our students want high standards and that their tuition entitles them to expect an atmosphere in which an academic priority might occasionally bring about the rescheduling of computer time.

I would be very interested in student opinion on these matters, for behind this letter is the nagging fear that maybe my concern is out of date.

Very truly yours,
Joseph J. Gallucci, Jr., Ph.D.
professor of music

Table tennis team ties first match

FUMIE IRIE returns a service during a table tennis game. Irie is a member of the S.U. intercollegiate table tennis team. The team played an experienced Shoreline team Sunday and tied them, 3-3.

A doubles victory by Peggy Truong and Ken Wong gave S.U. a 3-3 tie with Shoreline Community College in table tennis action Sunday.

It was the first match ever for the S.U. table tennis squad and there was a fairly large crowd on hand to watch. Shoreline, which has had previous match experience, is one of the strongest teams in the league along with the University of Washington, according to Dr. Michael Scott, S.U. coach.

DR. SCOTT termed the match a "successful adventure" and it showed that S.U. is going to be "right in there in table tennis with Shoreline and U.W."

Wong and Truong also won their singles matches to score all three S.U. points.

As the number one S.U. player, Wong outgunned Terry Walker, 19-21, 24-22, 21-13, 21-10; and Truong, the number two player, beat Roy Prior, 21-19, 21-16, 15-21, 21-19.

ROD DERLINE the team's captain, fell to Paul Larson, 12-21, 23-21, 9-21, 10-21. Derline wasn't used to Larson's "loop shot," which puts "terrific spin on the ball," said Dr. Scott. The loop shot is a relatively new table tennis shot.

In the other singles matches, Mike Uhler was beaten by Greg Herrick, 17-21, 22-24, 13-21; and Fumie Irie lost to Bud Grandemange, 15-21, 13-21, 14-21.

In the decisive doubles event, Truong and Wong defeated Herrick and Larson, 21-15, 15-21, 22-20, 21-18.

Spikers tenth in tourney

The S.U. volleyball team finished tenth in a field of 16 in the regional volleyball championships last Saturday.

In round robin action, the spikers breezed by U.W.'s number three team, 11-8, 11-6; had a little problem with Bellingham YMCA, 9-11, 11-5;

Golfers win crown

The Chieftain golf squad won its third straight West Coast Athletic Conference championship at Santa Clara on Monday.

S.U.'s Kevin Bishop also grabbed the individual crown. It is the second straight year that an S.U. player has captured the individual title. Keith Williams, now graduated, won it for S.U. last year.

IN THE 36-hole event, the squad ended up with 579 strokes, with its closest competitor, the University of Nevada at Las Vegas, netting a 587.

Bishop had a 142 for the course, along with Las Vegas' Terry Weber and Santa Clara's Don Dormer. Bishop beat the pair in a two-hole playoff to capture the title.

S.U.'s Doug Lauer finished fourth with a 143.

OTHER S.U. scores were: Jim Barnes and Ed Jonson with 147 apiece, Pete Yagi with a 149 and Rob Watson with a 152.

Before capturing the WCAC crown, S.U. placed seventh in the U.S. Collegiate at Stanford last Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The Chiefs were in ninth for the first two days of the 54-hole event, before racing to a tie for seventh with UCLA on the final day with a 918. Stanford won the event in the last day with a 877.

Watson's 226 was best on the S.U. squad. Barnes had a 229; Lauer, 231; Jonson, 232; Bishop, 239; and Yagi, 242.

Both tennis teams win; baseball, crew beaten

WOMEN'S TENNIS

S.U. upped its record to 3-2 by blanking Olympic Community College Thursday, 4-0.

Medrice Coluccio whipped Joan Slagle, 6-1, 6-2; Mary Wilson beat Eda Peabody, 6-2, 6-2; and Mary Jo Lake edged Lois Burgo, 5-7, 6-3, 8-6 in the singles matches.

In the doubles events, Nadine Nitler and Jill Savage trounced Kathy David and Margaret Castle, 6-1, 6-2.

BASEBALL

The Chiefs went to Idaho Friday only to lose to Lewis and Clark State College, 6-11.

The team then traveled to Spokane for a doublebill with Gonzaga on Saturday. Rain cancelled play. It was the first rainout for a Gonzaga team in two years.

MEN'S TENNIS

The racquetmen defeated the Washington State Cougars Saturday, 8-1.

Marc Soriano played the best match of his collegiate career against Jim Randolph, but lost, 5-7, 6-7. Randolph had defeated S.U.'s number one, Mike Prineas, earlier this year at Pullman. Prineas is presently competing in a tournament in L.A.

In the other singles matches, Gary Danklefsen got by Steve Crow, 5-7, 7-6, 6-4; Guy Ilalaole conquered Craig Clayton, 7-5, 6-3; Chris Koruga whipped Bill Kodama, 6-1, 6-3; Brian Adams stomped on Sid Porter, 6-2, 6-2; and Ray Weber zonked Don Judy, 6-2, 6-2.

In the doubles events, Danklefsen and Adams squeaked past Randolph and Crow, 7-5, 7-5; Soriano and Weber fought past Clayton and Kodama, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3; and Koruga and Ilalaole washed out Porter and Judy, 6-2, 6-3.

CREW

Chieftain rowing team placed third out of five Sunday on the Ballard ship canal in an early morning regatta sponsored by Seattle Pacific College.

S.U.'s eight-oared shell, "Vice Admiral George Towner," took an early lead in the 2,000-meter course. But SPC glided ahead of the Chiefs at the 700 meter mark, and Pacific Lutheran established itself in second at 1,600 meters.

The Falcons led S.U. by two lengths and the Lutes by one length at the finish. University of Puget Sound and SPC junior varsity placed fourth and fifth.

In the four-oared event, S.U. placed third in a race against SPC and PLU.

Garfield star signs with Chiefs

Washington State's Most Valuable Player in high school basketball, Keith Harrell, has signed a National Letter of Intent to play ball for S.U.

A high school All-American, Harrell was the most highly recruited player ever to play in the Seattle Metro League, receiving offers from all over the nation.

HARRELL, at 6'7", led the Garfield High School Bulldogs to the state AAA championship and an undefeated 24-game season. In his three years of high school ball, he averaged 17 points, 12 rebounds and 6 assists per game.

Chieftain coach Bill O'Connor was delighted and gave credit to his assistant coaches, John Burnley and Dave Bike. The coaches said that Harrell's greatest asset is his ability to handle the ball—he is very quick.

Harrell's high school coach, Fernando Amorteguy, has called Harrell "the finest basketball prospect this state has ever seen."

"I AM looking forward to the challenge offered at S.U. for a good education," said Harrell, who sports a 3.5 gpa. "Needless to say, I was impressed with coach O'Connor and coaches Burnley and Bike and am certainly looking forward to playing for them."

He added: "My present coach, Mr. Amorteguy, is a Seattle University graduate and his example over our years at Garfield convinced me that it is great to be a Chieftain."

The signing of Carl Washington, a 6'8" forward from Stagg High School in Stockton, California, was announced yesterday by O'Connor.

Washington averaged 18 points and 18 rebounds a game as a senior.

He was named all-everything in that central California area during his senior year.

S.U. coaches are comparing Washington's style with that of Jimmy Baker of Las Vegas. Washington is also very deadly in the 20-foot area.

More spring sports action scheduled

The spring sports schedule continues.

BASEBALL

A doubleheader against Edmonds Community College is in store for the Chiefs as they travel to Edmonds for a 1:30 p.m. tomorrow start.

Then it will be off to Tacoma for a rematch against Puget Sound in a single game at 2 p.m. Friday.

CREW

Oars will be splashing as the crew takes on Seattle Pacific on the Ship Canal near SPC tomorrow. A four-way match is set for Saturday at American Lake.

GOLF

The golfers go to the World's Fair as they play in the 36-hole Expo '74 Intercollegiate at Spokane tomorrow and Friday. Assistant coach Greg Segai is taking Dick Sander, Dave Jackson, Dick Farrell, Jeff Coston, Tim Vetter and Marty O'Brien to the tournament hosted by Eastern Washington.

TENNIS, MEN'S

Nothing much in store for S.U.'s racquetmen except for the WCAC championship tournament at Santa Clara this weekend.

Walkalot needs volunteers

Interested in helping on the March of Dimes Super Walkalot?

March of Dimes personnel are looking for college students to help with various duties during the Walkalot, scheduled for Saturday beginning at the Seattle Center Arena.

S.U. students are particularly needed to work between 3 and 8 p.m., checking in walkers as they finish the 20-mile walk, answering questions and helping at the free concert for walkers.

Interested students who might be able to volunteer all or part of the 3-8 p.m. shift are asked to contact Ed Aaron, director of social services, second floor Chieftain, 626-6389.

Newsbriefs

nursing students' meeting

All freshman nursing students are asked to attend a meeting at noon today in Liberal Arts 122.

New student nurse uniforms will be discussed and next year's student council representatives will be elected.

cronin-burke discussion

"Who is the University?" will be discussed at noon today in the Chieftain lounge by Fr. Timothy Cronin, S.J., vice president for students, and Pat Burke, philosophy professor.

The discussion is sponsored by the Campus Ministry and was spawned by a debate several weeks ago on how much a university should get involved in social activism.

All those interested are invited to attend.

short concert

S.U.'s Fine Arts Ensemble will present a brief concert at noon today and tomorrow in the A.A. Lemieux Library Foyer.

Directed by Fr. Kevin Waters, S.J., music professor, the musical interlude will feature primarily music by Vivaldi and Jacek, but a special concerto with parts borrowed from Beethoven and DeBussy will also be presented.

cavity mineralization!

The Science and Engineering Seminar series continues at noon today with a talk on "Cavity Mineralization in the Pacific Northwest" by Bob Smith of the chemistry department.

The seminar is in Bannan 401 and all interested parties are invited.

search

Applications for the spring quarter search, set for this weekend at Forest Ridge, are still available.

Students may pick up applications in the Campus Ministry office, Pigott 301, or by contacting Ellie Barrett at 626-6743 or Debbie Sullivan at 626-5791.

dorm signups

Dorm signups continue today. Men should sign-up from 2-4:30 p.m.

Women who have not yet signed up may come to Fr. Leonard Sitter, S.J.'s office, second, floor Chieftain, any day between 8 a.m. and 4:40 p.m. Students may reserve rooms until the dorms fill.

budgets

The deadline for submitting budget requests for next year has been extended until this afternoon. All clubs interested in getting money from the ASSU are required to submit a request.

Budget interviews started yesterday. All interested students are invited to attend. Interviews will continue today, tomorrow and next week, beginning at 3 p.m. in the Chieftain conference room, second floor Chieftain.

an international treat

Tickets for International Night, scheduled for May 11, are now on sale at lunch in the Chieftain and during dinner at Bellarmine.

Cost is $3 a person.

International Night this year will feature food and entertainment for 12 different countries.

computer programmer needed

The ASSU is looking for a student with experience in computer programming to direct the teacher evaluation, scheduled for next week.

Interested students are asked to contact Jim Walker, ASSU first vice president, 626-6815, as soon as possible. The position will be a paid one but the salary is still negotiable at this time.

cultural film

A cultural film about the Philippines will be shown in Pigott 504 tomorrow at noon. The film traces the amalgamation of the country's cultural heritage from the pagans, Moslems and Christians. The modern and ancient architectures of the archipelago of more than 7,000 islands will be focused upon as well as some of the artifacts of its past.

Dr. Erlinda Rustia, of the English department and Antonio I. Regala, MBA student, both formerly of the Philippines, will entertain questions at the end of the 25-minute film presentation. Everyone is invited and welcome to bring their lunch.

free party

All members, past and present, as well as spring quarter initiates, of Beta Gamma Sigma in both graduate and MBA programs are invited to a free party at 8 p.m. Saturday at 310 12th E. (Molokai Apartments), #302.

Wine punch and munchies will be provided. Just bring yourselves and your spouse, friend, etc.

For further details, call Barbara Eshom, 329-0289.

skier's picnic

The Ski Club picnic will be Sunday from 1-5 p.m. Directions to get to the barbecue are available in Liberal Arts 118.

Election of officers for next year will also take place during the picnic.

Community involvement expanded with Girl's Club

by Connie Carlton

S.U.'s involvement in community projects has recently been expanded through the creation of Girls' Club. Offering an instructional and recreational athletics program for girls ages 6-19, it is working in cooperation with present Boys' Club activities.

The program was originally intended for approximately 100 underprivileged girls living in the Central Area, but has now been opened to all girls in Seattle. There have been 65 girls join the club since it first opened March 25, and it is hoped to expand, as long as there is interest, to possibly 300-500 girls.

GIRLS' Club features structured group activities which are directed toward the individual girl's successful accomplishment of skills. Instruction in badminton, tennis, track, swimming, basketball, dance, gymnastics, volleyball and softball is offered. Classes are also held in personal hygiene and grooming. Social activities such as parties and overnights have been planned.

The object of Girls' Club is to present well-rounded physical, social and health activities on a personal basis. Instructors are chosen from S.U. students majoring in physical education, community services and education. A 20 to 1 ratio between instructors and girls is the goal.

The club's basic philosophy is a strong force in character and personality development. Girls' Club offers this through opportunities for well-directed and well-supervised group activities.

"THE EMPHASIS is on learning to live together and work together," according to Jack Henderson, Connolly P.E. Center director and supervisor of both Boys' and Girls' Clubs. Many activities of Girls' Club are offered in conjunction with Boys' Club, while others are separate.

The idea for a Girls' Club arose because both the Connolly Center facilities and the activities of Boys' Club attracted interest from girls.

"No facilities were open to girls in the area," Toni Harrell, coordinator of Girls' Club and a p.e. major at S.U., said. She also pointed out that as an institution, "the purpose of the Connolly Center is to serve the community."

PATRICK E. Pheasant, vice president for university relations, said that "the Weyerhaeuser Company Foundation is assisting Seattle University to underwrite the Girls' Club. The grant is over a five-year period. As a result of their contribution, several other major corporations and foundations have become interested in this program."

Ms. Harrell added that the grant pays for the use of facilities in the Connolly Center. It is a decreasing grant, which encourages the club to go elsewhere to find more funds. S.U. does not fund any part of the program.

"Right now Girls' Club is on a trial basis," Ms. Harrell noted.

Immediate goals are aimed to draw interest to the club and hopefully get the funds which will be eventually needed as the Weyerhaeuser grant diminishes and the program expands.

Baha'i overview in open college

This quarter's session of the Open College features a first-time class on the Baha'i faith, offered by Virginia Westerberg and Rick Stence.

The novice class implements the knowledge and experiences of faith members by inviting them into the classes to speak.

THE CENTRAL theme of the Baha'i faith, that of the unity of God, mankind and religion will be explored.

The twelve truths that amplify this central theme will be introduced and taught during the course.

Equal emphasis is placed on all the great prophets because they only reaffirm belief in one God and the unity of mankind.

"THE ONLY distinction between Abraham, Moses, Christ, Mohammed and Bahabala is in the social teachings introduced during their age," Westerburg explained.

The Baha'i faith was founded in 1863 by the Persian, Baha'u'llah, who proclaimed the advent of new revelation. He claimed that his coming represented the second coming of Christ.

All persons interested in learning more are invited to attend the weekly 1 p.m. Tuesday class in the Bellarmine conference room. A 50-cent fee is charged to cover the cost of Baha'i faith books.

Tickets available for fresh salmon bake

Tickets are still available for the Salmon Bake set for noon to 6 p.m. Saturday on Buhr Hall lawn.

SPONSORED by the American Indian Student Council, the salmon bake and several cultural activities as well are in honor of Tandy Wilbur Sr., Swinomish tribal leader who will receive S.U.'s first Regents Medal Friday.

Cost of the salmon dinner is $4 per person. Tickets are available in the Chieftain and from the minority affairs office, 626-6227.

In addition to the diner, speakers will discuss urban, reservation and national issues relevant to native Americans and others. There will also be a series of Indian songs and dances depicting ceremonies and customs of the seven original Indian nations.

ARTS AND crafts will be on display in three teepees to be erected on the lawn.

All interested persons are invited to attend.
